THE SPECIAL INCOME TAX MONEY.

The plan of the Democratic party, as outlined in their platform, is to divert the special income tax money from its original purpose of conservation and immigration, and to spend it for road and school purposes. The tax is imposed on all property, and on those paying it and the constitutionality of the act imposing it has not been tested for the reason that those being assessed are willing to pay without a contest. It is generally supposed that the act is one that would stand fire in a test case, and, assuredly, it would be under the circumstances if any attempt were made to divert the money raised under it.

The Democratic program is, as stated, to grab the money and do with it as they please, something which, in all probability, is as impossible to do as would be the carrying out of the McAndrews promise to "share the deed on immigration."

The Democratic writers and study speakers refer to this special fund as "public money," attempting to leave the suggestion that it is contributed by the public generally. How misleading this is, is shown by the figures of the territorial treasury regarding this special tax. The treasury figures show that in 1909 there are only 144 individuals out of a total of approximately 106,000 paying any part of this tax, and those 144 only pay $18,000 out of the total of $290,000 paid in 1909, or the year ending on June 30 last. The corporations of Hawaii are the ones who pay the special income tax, which the Democrats are after to divide up among their party supporters.

Only six Hawaiians are contributors, four Portuguese, two Japanese, six Chinese and 126 Americans.

On the other islands, the corporations pay practically the same proportion of the total.

The sugar plantations of Hawaii pay seventy-five per cent of the whole. They pay this in order to import the kind of labor Washington insists on, although they could flood this country with Porto Ricans and Filipinos at a much less expense to themselves.

The voters of Hawaii would be insane to stop the payment into the treasury of this money, one-quarter of which is being spent here and the rest going to pay the expense of the work the national government says must be done.

In the matter of regular taxes, the records show that only one out of every seven of the voters pays anything toward the expenses of the government with the exception of his poll tax.

In Hawaii the rich pay a greater proportion of the taxes than in any State in the Union, and, probably, in any country of the world. On the mainland the rich are tax-dodgers; here they tax themselves voluntarily over the rate paid by the public generally.

They can afford to, it is true; but so can they afford to in other countries, but they don't. That marks the great difference.

The question the voters must consider now is, not whether the special income tax money should be spent on roads or spent on immigration, but whether we are to throw back into the corporation coffers the amounts they are willing to give to help develop Hawaii and to carry out a policy of immigration that must be carried out if we are to save our political life as a Territory of the United States.

OUR BUNCH OF BOUQUETS.

The last week of the political campaign opens up brightly, with the usual attacks upon The Advertiser as the main features. We do not know what our Japanese and Hawaiian friends remarked about us yesterday, but each one of the English papers squinted in our direction. A few samples of the bouquets are these:

The Advertiser wants government by commission.

The Advertiser classes Hawaiians with negroes.

Why does The Advertiser avoid giving reasons for opposing Mr. Cathcart? Its say so does not make Mr. Cathcart an "improper person to hold the important office he has been nominated for."

The Republican party can find no more detestable enemy than the hypocrite (meaning The Advertiser) whose allegiance is no more to be depended upon than the chronic falsifier subjecting party and community welfare to the whims of his personnal spite.

For a Monday, the above is fairly representative. To those who read The Advertiser the humor of the collection will be apparent, and nearly every one does read The Advertiser.

Delegate Kahio has not yet been successfully attacked on any point by those who seek his defeat on Tuesday next. His congressional record is one of increasing usefulness and there is scarcely a corner of this Territory where the benefits of his service to the people have not been experienced. He is now in a position to do even more for Hawaii. He knows the congressional ropes; he numbers his friends there in both parties, from President Taft down; he is familiar with the requirements of his constituency and is closest touch with the conflicting interests being awarded here by the government. This is Hawaii's formative period and the voters of these islands would be worse than blind to their own interests if they did anything to interrupt the flow of benefits setting Hawaiians. It will be plenty of time to change Delegates when the time we have is not doing everything that he is asked to do, and then some.

So far there has been no apology made by the Democrats to the Hawaiian Portuguese for calling them "half-breed," "the sons of Eve," and "uneducated and inferior criminal hordes." No apology has come, either, for the "hate" epithet directed by a Democratic speaker against the Chinese of this Territory.

Superior Mr. McAndrews, appearing advanced during the past two years for the duties of Honolulu and suggested working of his own Hawaiian immigration, and has been in the Hawaiian immigration from the time he first came to Hawaii, and a native Honolulu.
